Outdoor Opportunities By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Our PA Elk Herd

Why Not Bring Them into Your School?

Well, I finally did it. After all these years of thinking about it, this past Sunday after attending the 8 AM service at church, we made the 2+ hour road trip over to Frenchville in Northern Clearfield County to visit the Mosquito Creek Sportsmen's Club and I signed up for their 29th Annual Coyote Hunt. Now billed as "The Largest Hunt in the World", I waited in line for about 25 minutes behind about 30 other guys at the job trailer the club has specifically set up for coyote hunt registrations. My wife waited patiently in our vehicle and afterward, we made the short drive up the scenic Quehanna Highway over to the Elk Country Visitor Center in Benezette.

When we arrived at our destination off Winslow Hill Road around 1:30 PM, we found there were less than a dozen vehicles in their extensive parking lots (quite a change from the last time we were there in late September and it was hard to find a parking spot). The Elk Country Visitor Center opened back in September 2010 and is a shining example of a public/private partnership, since it is a cooperative effort between the PA Department of Conservation and Natural Resources (DCNR) and the Keystone Elk Country Alliance (KECA). On the chalk board near the entrance, it listed the day's free educational program was "Elk Exclamations" and since it was scheduled for 2 PM, Mary and I decided to attend. When the time arrived, we made our way into the Discovery Room at the Visitors Center, and we initially found we were the only ones there along with the presenter. Haley Stapleton, the KECA Conservation Education Specialist, introduced herself and she asked if we had any questions. After a brief conversation, in which we shared we were from Lawrence County and I am an outdoor writer, Haley asked if we could help her spread the word regarding KECA's Distance Learning Program. She said, to the best of her knowledge, while they have worked with schools in most of PA's 67-counties and in 5 other states, Lawrence County is not one of them and she would like to change that in order to bring their multi-sensory environmental learning experience into classrooms in our local schools. So, in cooperation with Elk Country Visitor Center's Distance Learning, let's try to change that!

Bring Them into Your School – Attention all educators, parents, grandparents, guardians, and students; KECA's Distance Learning on our PA elk herd is informative, interactive, and its Free! Developed to meet PA State Education Standards, the program can be blended into classroom curriculums and is taught on an age-appropriate level from elementary school up to high school (K-12) and Haley said they can even work with college students. KECA teaches these programs in classrooms via online video conferencing using Skype or Zoom. Schools simply need an internet connection and a computer with a microphone and an internal or external camera. Prior to the instruction, KECA ships an "Elk Trunk" to the school, which includes an elk antler, elk pelt, elk skull, elk jaw, deer jaw, bison horn, and other materials to provide students a "hands-on" experience. (Through generous donations, KECA pays for the trunk's shipment both ways.) Geography, time, and fiscal constraints may prohibit students from physically visiting the Elk Country Visitor Center, but through technology, the Distance Learning Program will bring our PA elk herd into their classrooms. In order for your school or classroom to participate, you can email Haley Stapleton at KECAConEdSp@windstream.net or her supervisor, Ben Porkolab, the KECA Conservation Education Coordinator at KECAConEd@windstream.net. They may also be reached by a phone call to (814) 787-5173. This opportunity isn't just for Lawrence County schools, KECA wants to get into PA schools in all 67-counties and would welcome presenting to Ohio schools as well. Don't wait, contact KECA today. Students of all ages will enjoy learning about our PA elk herd! I know this is an educational program I would have loved as a kid and you can help make it possible for today's students. God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2020

STRANGE BUT TRUE
By Samantha Weaver
Most parents of small children know that trampolines can be dangerous, and they are. Every year, nearly 100,000 people receive emergency-room treatment for injuries sustained while using trampolines. Those injuries are hardly ever fatal, though. Pools, on the other hand, are far more deadly; more than 1,000 people in the United States die in swimming pools annually.

Our Daily Bread

Concrete Love

Read: 1 Corinthians 13:1-13

Though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, but have not love, it profits me nothing. 1 Corinthians 13:3

The story is told of a child psychologist who spent many hours constructing a new driveway at his home. Just after he smoothed the surface of the freshly poured concrete, his small children chased a ball across the driveway, leaving deep footprints. The man yelled after them with a torrent of angry words. His shocked wife said, "You're a psychologist who's supposed to love children." The fuming man shouted, "I love children in the abstract, not in the concrete!"

I chuckled at the alleged incident and groaned at the play on words, but the story rang true for me. While I agree in principle with the concept of self-giving love, I find myself failing to express it to the people I live and work with each day.

First Corinthians 13 describes Christian love in terms of its tangible expression: "Love suffers long and is kind; love does not envy; love does not parade itself, is not puffed up; does not behave rudely, does not seek its own, is not provoked, thinks no evil" (vv.4-5).

As a theory, love isn't worth much; as a practice, it is the world's greatest treasure. When footprints are in the driveway, people discover whether our love exists in the abstract or in the concrete.

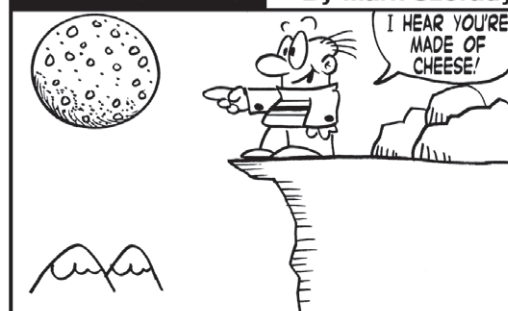

*Follow with reverent steps the great example
Of Him whose holy work was doing good;
So shall the wide earth seem our Father's temple,
Each loving life a psalm of gratitude.* —Whittier

Now Here's A Tip
by JoAnn Derson

• Here's an oldie but a goodie! Iced coffee is at its best when brewed with twice the usual amount of ground coffee, because the coffee is diluted by the melting ice cubes. Or use regular strength brewed ice coffee and serve over coffee ice cubes.
They're easy to prepare:
Pour cool brewed coffee into ice-cube trays and freeze. ©2020 King Features
