GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

Creamy Cucumber-Dill Salad

8 large (about 5 pounds) cucumbers
1 teaspoon salt
6 large radishes
1 container (8 ounces) plain low-fat yogurt
1/2 cup reduced-fat sour cream
1/2 cup fresh dill, loosely packed, chopped
2 tablespoons fresh lime juice
1/4 teaspoons ground black pepper
1 small garlic clove, crushed with press

1. With vegetable peeler, remove several strips of peel from each cucumber. Cut each cucumber lengthwise in half; with teaspoon, scoop out seeds. With knife or in food processor fitted with slicing blade, thinly slice cucumber halves crosswise. In large bowl, toss cucumbers with salt; let stand 30 minutes.

2. Meanwhile, thinly slice radishes; transfer to serving bowl. Add yogurt, sour cream, dill, lime juice, pepper and garlic. Stir until well-combined.

3. With hand, press sliced cucumbers over sink to remove as much liquid as possible. Pat cucumbers dry with paper towels.

4. Add cucumbers to bowl with yogurt mixture. Toss until evenly coated. Cover and refrigerate at least 1 hour or overnight to blend flavors. Yields 10 (1/2 cup) servings.

• To remove stubborn hard-water deposits from a shower head (without removing it), use this trick: Add a cup of plain white vinegar to a zipper-top sandwich bag (or a larger bag with added vinegar to fit larger showerheads). Submerge the shower head in the vinegar and draw the plastic bag up tightly around the stem. Use a rubber band to secure the bag around the shower head. Leave overnight. Remove, scrub and shower to release the deposits. ©2020 King Features

• Make a floating cooler for your pool with this easy trick using a pool noodle. You'll need a plastic container, a bungee cord or length of rope that will wrap around the container and a pool noodle cut into four pieces no longer than the sides of the container. Run the cord or rope through the noodle pieces, line noodle pieces along sides of container, and secure rope or cord tightly an inch or so lower than the container's lip. Toss in pool, fill with drinks and ice, and enjoy.

Outdoor Opportunities By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Ice Cream: It Compliments All Our Favorite Summer Outdoor Activities (Part 3 of 3)

We all know it's 3 strikes and you're out in baseball. Well, when it comes to homemade ice cream, it's 3 stops and the ice cream is done. Last week, I shared how to layer the ice and rock salt in the external bucket as the ingredients are churning in the internal container. Sometimes, when you're initially putting in the ice and rock salt, you'll get an "ice jam", which causes the ice cream maker to stop. If that happens, use your hands to forcibly get the internal container to resume spinning and just remember that does not count as one of your 3 stops. After about 40-minutes, you'll usually notice the electric ice cream maker starts to labor as the ingredients progressively cool and thicken. Now, through trial-and-error, I've learned my total churning time is typically around 50-minutes, if I've pre-chilled my ingredients and internal container. However, if the ingredients and the internal container are starting at room temperature, then the total churning time is usually around an hour and 15-minutes. Makes sense it takes 1.5X longer, since the ice/rock salt mixture has to cool the internal container and ingredients significantly before it freezes.

If you're paying attention to your ice cream maker as it churns, you'll hear it progressively going slower and slower, until it eventually stops. While some folks call it done then, I've learned an extra minute or two can really help solidify your homemade ice cream from "soup" to a very thick milkshake consistency. So, after Stop #1, I use my hands to get the internal container spinning again. Typically, it will only spin from 30-seconds to 3-minutes before you get Stop #2. I'll get it going a final time, which may be only a few seconds up to a minute before Stop #3. After Stop #3, I unplug the motor and remove it from on top of the ice cream maker. Then I carefully lift the internal container out of the ice/rock salt mixture and dry it off with an old towel. Finally, it makes the highly anticipated trip upstairs to the kitchen. Now it's time to dish out homemade ice cream, before any of the remaining frozen treat goes into plastic storage containers and back down in the freezer for future consumption. After enjoying a sample, I head back down the basement with a slotted spoon and two one-gallon freezer bags. I'm typically able to fill both freezer bags about ¾ full of ice that goes back in the freezer. That way, I save roughly 7 lbs. of ice for the next time I make ice cream and I can stretch a big 22 lb. bag of ice out to five batches of ice cream. (The freezer bags become the first two layers for the next batch, but you'll still need to add the rock salt.)

Now, here are the highly anticipated homemade ice cream recipes you've been waiting for:

The "BASE" – These same five ingredients form the foundation of all my homemade ice cream recipes. It includes: (1) one 12 fl. oz. can Evaporated Milk; (2) one 14 oz. can Sweetened Condensed Milk; (3) one pint/16 fl. oz. Heavy Whipping Cream; (4) ¼-cup Corn Starch; and (5) ¼-teaspoon salt. Vanilla Ice Cream – To the five ingredient "Base" add: (1) two Tablespoons Vanilla (either pure extract or imitation flavor, your choice); (2) 1½-cups sugar or Stevia; and (3) 6-cups of Whole Milk. I typically stir the vanilla and sugar/Stevia into the bowl containing the five base ingredients before it gets poured into the chilled internal container. Then the whole milk finally goes in directly before churning.

Chocolate Ice Cream – To the "Base" add: (1) ½-Tablespoon Vanilla; (2) 1½-cups sugar or Stevia; (3) 6-cups Whole Milk; and (4) 1-cup unsweetened cocoa powder/baking cocoa. (If you're a chocoholic, add an additional ½-cup of cocoa powder for a richer chocolate flavor.) The vanilla and sugar/Stevia get mixed with the base ingredients before going into the internal container, while the cocoa powder gets mixed with the whole milk before going in. Don't be alarmed when the cocoa powder doesn't initially dissolve in the milk. Make sure it makes it into the internal container and it will dissolve as the ice cream churns.

Blueberry Ice Cream – To the "Base" add: (1) ½-Tablespoon Vanilla; (2) ½-cup sugar or Stevia; (3) ½-cup Blueberry Fruit Syrup (typically used for pancake syrup); (4) 6-cups fresh or partially thawed frozen blueberries; and (5) 3-cups Whole Milk. The vanilla, sugar/Stevia, and blueberry syrup get mixed with the "base" before going into the internal container. I puree the blueberries and milk in the blender. I put in 3-cups blueberries with 1½-cups milk and these two "smoothie" mixtures get poured in before churning.

Strawberry Ice Cream – Exactly the same as Blueberry, except substitute 6-cups fresh or partially thawed frozen strawberries and ½-cup of strawberry fruit syrup in the recipe. (I'm going to make raspberry next.)

This 4th of July Weekend, you're going to want to get outdoors and be active. When you finish up, homemade ice cream is the perfect way to end your day! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2020

Dying For Encouragement

A word of encouragement can make the difference between giving up or going on.

Command Joshua, and encourage him and strengthen him. — Deuteronomy 3:28
Today's Scripture: Deuteronomy 3:23-29

In Deuteronomy 3 we read that Moses encouraged Joshua as he was about to assume leadership of the Israelites. No doubt Joshua was filled with fear and a feeling of inadequacy to fill Moses' shoes. The Lord therefore told Moses to encourage Joshua.

All of us need a word of encouragement from time to time to spur us on when we are facing a major new challenge. But we also need words of appreciation and commendation as we carry out our daily responsibilities, whether at home or at work.

When a corporate accountant committed suicide, an effort was made to find out why. The company's books were examined, but no shortage was found. Nothing could be uncovered that gave any clue as to why he took his life—that is, until a note was discovered. It simply said: "In 30 years I have never had one word of encouragement. I'm fed up!"

Many people crave some small sign of approval. They need a word of recognition, a caring smile, a warm handshake, and an honest expression of appreciation for the good we see in them or in their work.

Every day let's determine to encourage (not flatter) at least one person. Let's do our part to help those around us who are dying for encouragement.
By: Richard DeHaan

It may seem insignificant to say a word or two;

But when we give encouragement,

What wonders it can do! —K. De Haan

Natural Help for Optimum Health

*Good Health should be our most important asset.
Why not take charge of your health today.*

Most people on my whole health program see all their numbers go down: sugar, cholesterol, blood pressure, and weight. The only thing that increases is your energy, quality of sleep, and general overall health improves.

• Are you having trouble starting that backyard charcoal grill? Maybe all you need to do is head for the snack table. Potato chips and nacho tortilla chips (like Doritos) will burn bright and hot enough to cook your dinner, and certainly well enough to give your charcoal a great start.

• Mr. and Mrs. Curry, of New York City, got married inside a 120,000-gallon shark tank. The bride wore a white wetsuit and the groom wore black, saying their "I do's" while circled by different types of sharks and eels. Both were experienced divers but had to broadcast their vows to the wedding officiant, family and friends, since none of them possessed equal nerve to enter the tank.

Now Here's A Tip
 by JoAnn Derson

• Borax can be used to keep sidewalks free of weeds. Simply sprinkle a little Borax on the sidewalk and sweep into the cracks. This is a very effective weed killer, but it also will kill your grass if you use too much, so keep it in the cracks only!

DEAR PAW'S CORNER:
 My tomcat "Robbie" is a big guy who I adopted from a shelter two years ago. When I feed him, he gulps his food so quickly that sometimes he throws it all back up. Why does he eat so fast, and how can I stop it? - Cheryl in Pittsburgh

DEAR CHERYL:
 Regurgitation is soooo not fun! I'm sure Robbie doesn't like it, and you don't like having to clean up. Because Robbie was a shelter cat, he may have been in a situation in the past where he had to compete for food with other cats - not in the shelter, but perhaps in a bad home environment. So now he eats fast, so the food doesn't disappear on him, and he probably eats all of it right away. His overfull stomach is triggered to regurgitate some of that food.

First, make sure that no underlying health conditions are contributing to Robbie's food gulping and regurgitation. Have the veterinarian examine him and discuss the behavior, as you will get some great, targeted advice about ways to reduce the problem. Once that's done, implement some new sup-

Coded Riddle

Change each letter to the one that comes immediately
BEFORE it in the alphabet to find a riddle and its answer.

Here's a copy of the alphabet to guide you:

A B C D E F G H I J K L M N O P Q R S T U V W X Y Z

X I F S F E P B M M U I F M F U U F S T

T M F F Q ?

J O U I F B M Q I B - C F E .

Answer: Where do all the letters sleep? In the alphabet-bed.
