Paws Corner

by Sam Mazzotta

Each year I've warned my readers about potential dangers to pets during the holidays. And I definitely want to keep this information circulating. So, here are many of the common food hazards and other dangers that pet owners need to be aware of. These can cause serious illness or death:

DOGS: Grapes and raisins (and currants), chocolate, macadamia nuts, avocado, onions, garlic, flavored chips, sugar-free candies (or anything containing xylitol), rhubarb, tomato plant leaves, raw bread dough, beer and wine, and liquor. Keep dogs out of the trash and away from chicken or fish bones, peach and plum pits, persimmon seeds, raw meat or fish, moldy foods and old cigar or cigarette butts (tobacco is very toxic).

CATS: All of the above; plus, cats are very sensitive to the following popular holiday plants: poinsettia, lily, mistletoe and amaryllis. Ivy, azalea, philodendron, caladium and diffebachia also are dangerous.

SMALL PETS: Hamsters, guinea pigs, etc., are very sensitive to changes in diet, so avoid the temptation to give them extra treats or holiday foods. They can suffer great harm if they ingest any plastic, tinsel or other tempting items lying around. Keep small pets in their cages during busy holiday get-togethers, and in a quiet spot where they won't be stressed. If your pet exhibits any signs of distress, or is lethargic, vomiting, drooling heavily or otherwise acting abnormally, contact your veterinarian right away.

Turkey Enchiladas

by Marta Sanchez
2 C. shredded Cheddar
and Monterey cheese
blend
1 onion, chopped
2 oz. can sliced black
olives
24 6" corn tortillas
19 oz. can red enchilada sauce
4 cups cooked turkey,
chopped
Optional: Refried Beans,
Sour Cream

•Preheat oven to 350°.
Lightly grease a 9"x13"
baking dish. In small bowl, combine cheese,
onion, and black olives.
In small skillet, heat enough oil to lightly coat
one tortilla, and cook until soft. Remove and dip in enchilada sauce to coat. Add turkey and cheese mixture to center of tortilla, roll and place in prepared dish. Repeat until bottom layer of pan
is covered with enchiladas. Spread enough sauce over bottom layer to cover. Repeat process with second layer;
spread remaining sauce
on top and sprinkle with

This Hunting Season, I've Got to Give Credit Where Credit is Due (Part 1 of 2)

If you're an avid or even casual hockey fan, you know when it comes to a player's scoring statistics, his/her points is a compilation of the goals they've personally scored and the assists he/she has rendered on their teammate's goals. Being a team sport, these assists or "helpers" are vitally important in hockey and are closely tracked, since they often measure a player's valuable ability to "see the ice", along with their passing prowess and unselfishness. Now, when it comes to hunting, you don't often hear it talked about, but there are assists or "helpers" frequently involved in a successful harvest when it comes to a wide variety of species. An assist should go to the landowner who gave you permission to hunt on their property, the "drivers" who pushed a bear your way as they made their way through the thick mountain laurel, the friend who recommended you set up your tree stand in a particular spot because that's where the deer always cross, or the stranger who helped you drag your deer out of the woods. There are often assists when it comes to a successful hunt and I feel it's important to share those details whenever you tell your story because without their assistance, in whatever form, you probably would not have gotten that buck, bear, or whichever species you successfully harvested that particular day. It reminds me of the line from the popular 1983 country hit, "Thank God For You", by the band Sawyer Brown that says it succinctly, "I got to give credit where credit is due".

Over the past two weeks, Nov. 6 & 13, I shared details of past pheasant hunts which vividly came to mind after I successfully harvested two ringneck roosters on Oct. 28 and two more on Oct. 30. Well, I have to give the assist to my wife because if it wasn't for her recommendation, I wouldn't have gotten those birds. You see, when we were first married, we had a golden retriever named Nugget, who came from a hard-to-find hunting bloodline; and I hunted pheasants, grouse, and woodcock with her as often as possible. However, since she passed away in Dec. 1997, I just haven't had the zeal to pursue upland birds the way I once did. I eventually would like to get another bird bog at some point, but not having one kept me from purchasing a PA adult pheasant permit in the first two-years they were required, 2018 and 2019. Back on Wed., Oct. 28, my wife texted me and asked if I could drop something off for her at work that she had forgot. I gladly did it and when I briefly spoke to her when I handed off the item she requested, I mentioned on the way down I saw a truck with crates on the back towing a trailer hauling an ATV and it was probably the PA Game Commission out stocking pheasants. My wife replied, "We haven't had any pheasant for dinner in years. You ought to hunt them again sometime."

That was enough to plant the seed and afterwards I stopped at Walmart to purchase my first mandatory pheasant permit. Living adjacent to PA State Game Lands 150, I decided to try my luck that afternoon and because this was going to be quite the trip down memory lane, I elected to take my venerable first firearm, a Mossberg 500 20-gauge pump shotgun dad bought me when I was 11. That afternoon, I was rewarded for my efforts with two beautiful roosters and then I harvested two more on Fri., Oct. 30, before 8:15 AM. Looking back, I probably wouldn't have even purchased a 2020 pheasant permit and gone out after those birds, if my wife hadn't said something. Mary definitely gets the assists on pheasants this year and I'm very thankful for her gentle encouragement to get back out after the birds after all these years.

I was blessed to harvest a nice 8-point whitetail on our property in Pulaski Township during archery season in 2017. However, in 2018 and 2019, I had both the blessing and curse of seeing and relentlessly pursuing a Venango County 14-point that was by far the biggest PA buck I had seen in 20-years. The fact his antlers would score well above 150-inches and the knowledge the bottom of his belly was about the same height as the backs of the does he towered over kept me getting up at 3:30 AM, driving 50-minutes, and then walking back in for 1.5-miles in the darkness day-after-day; all while fighting the temptation to down other bucks that met PA antler restrictions, but just weren't him. Once again, my wife has to get the assist because she convinced me to give up my obsession of pursuing only that one Venango county buck in 2020 and in the era of COVID-19 restrictions and staying close to home, to spend my archery season hunting our property behind the house. Next week, I'll share the story of my 2020 archery buck and on this harvest, Mary didn't get the only "helper". Here's hoping your friends and loved ones are as supportive of your time afield in Penn's Woods! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2020

Our Daily Bread

Always Thankful

Today's Scripture:
Habakkuk 3:17-19

I will rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation. Habak. 3:18

Perhaps Habakkuk 3:17-19 was an unusual Bible passage to read as our family and guests sat down to a traditional feast of turkey with all the trimmings. But I had a reason for choosing it. Simply to bow my head and give thanks didn't seem to be enough. Compared with the poverty of many of the world's people, I am wealthy.

The prophet Habakkuk was awaiting the destruction of his country by the ruthless Chaldeans, whose army was called by God to punish His people for their disobedient and evil ways (Hab. 1:5-6). He said, "Though the fig tree may not blossom, nor fruit be on the vines; though the labor of the olive may fail, and the fields yield no food; though the flock may be cut off from the fold, and there be no herd in the stalls—yet I will rejoice in the Lord" (3:17-18).

Those words made me stop and ask, "Am I thankful to God regardless of what He gives or withholds?" Habakkuk pondered how he would respond to the loss of every material blessing. He concluded, "I will joy in the God of my salvation" (v.18).

Circumstances may change, but God remains the same. That's always cause for thanksgiving. By: David C. McCasland

We can give thanks in every trial and say, "Your will be done," For God's at work in everything to make us like His Son.

Thankfulness depends on what is in your heart, not what is in your hand.

Are You Covered?

In time of emergency, the last thing you should worry about is if your emergency ambulance transportation will be financially covered. Insurance carriers may cover only a portion of your emergency transportation.
