Now Here's A Tip by JoAnn Derson

• “Re: your recent tip about storing heirloom quilts in a cedar chest: No, no, a thousand times no! Nothing is worse for quilts – heirloom or otherwise – than storing them in cedar chests. Acids will not only stain them but break down the fabric over time.” – B.R. in Washington.

• Thanks B.R. Although my grandmother did store quilts and other fabric items in her cedar chest, according to sources at the National Quilters Circle, the best place for an heirloom quilt may be on a bed. You can stack them, but rotate so that no quilt gets too much sun. – JoAnn

Recipe Corner

2 1/2 cups elbow macaroni
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
4 cups milk
1 pound shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup butter, melted
1 sleeve buttery round crackers, crushed

•Preheat the oven to 350°. Fill a large pot with lightly salted water and bring to a boil over high heat. Stir in the macaroni, and cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until the pasta has cooked through, but is still firm to the bite, about 8 minutes. Drain well. Melt 1/4 cup butter in a large saucepan over medium heat. Stir in flour and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Whisk in milk and simmer, stirring frequently, until mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Turn off heat and stir in Cheddar cheese until the cheese is melted. Add the macaroni and stir to coat. Pour the mixture into a 9x13-inch baking dish. Mix the 1/4 remaining cup melted butter and crushed crackers together in a bowl; scatter the cracker mixture evenly over the macaroni mixture. Bake in preheated oven until golden brown on top, about 45 minutes.

• To save yourself some time and aggravation, make a safety set of keys that match your current set exactly. You will never have to go looking for your keys when you are in a hurry, and you won't have to determine if the key you need is on the ring. It is!

• When making meatloaf, put strips of raw bacon on the bottom of the pan and place the meatloaf on top. It adds terrific flavor and will keep the meatloaf from sticking to the pan.

• "I purchased a dish drain pad approximately 9 inches by 17 inches, and I use it on the seat of my shower so it won't be slippery. It fits perfect - especially good for seniors! I am 86 years old, so I need all the help I can get." - B. B. In Massachusetts

Paws Corner

by Sam Mazzotta

DEAR READERS: As we close out one of the most tumultuous and stressful years of our lives, let's look back and remember how much peace and joy our pets gave to us. When nothing else in the world seemed certain, we could count on our pets to offer unconditional love.

That's why, as we look forward to a new year and new hopes, we must honor and protect our best friends.

Let's resolve to:

1. Spend more time with our pets. Dogs and cats need regular attention and love. While we're spending more time at home, it's a perfect time to play with our pets, to add an extra training session and more walks into the routine.
2. Get pets the best care possible. Schedule that routine veterinary visit, and get your pets caught up on their vaccinations. A physical can head off serious illnesses.
3. Include your pets in your will. We don't like to think about it, but end-of-life planning is important, and our pets need to be part of that planning.
4. Build lasting memories. Take as many photos with your pets as you can. Make scrapbooks that you can look through years from now to remember when your puppy was young, or to memorialize a beloved turtle, hamster, cat or dog.
5. Help other pet owners. So many people are silently struggling right now: either from job loss, ill health, grief or depression. They may not be able to take care of their pets as well as they can. Look out for your neighbors and offer to help if they ask for it. Donate money or supplies to local pet charities that offer assistance to pets and their owners.

I wish you and your pets a happy, healthy 2021.

Are You Covered?

In time of emergency, the last thing you should worry about is if your emergency ambulance transportation will be financially covered. Insurance carriers may cover only a portion of your emergency transportation.

With all the recent changes in HEALTHCARE it's more important than ever to have an ambulance membership.

Doordash DeliveryDonna's Day Creative Family Fun
by Donna EricksonTurn Holiday Cleanup Into Family Fun TimeIt feels anticlimactic: Eating the last of heated-up holiday leftovers, taking down the Christmas tree and hauling tattered boxes overflowing with decorations up to the attic or down to the basement.Living in Sweden when two of our kids were young, we learned how Swedes put a positive spin on the duty by calling it "julgranspludring," which basically means "saying goodbye to Christmas until next year." Traditionally, families sing and dance around the tree for a final hurrah, then throw it out the door! The grand finale is taking time to eat cookies and drink hot chocolate together.However you celebrated your special religious and family traditions in December, here are four activities to pick and choose from that your family might do this week as you sort through holiday memories.- While the holidays might be over, winter is still blowing through, and it gets dark early in the evening. I like to add some sparks of happiness to the inside of the house, since it looks bare and dreary when the decor is gone. Keep white minilights strung around windows to brighten the kitchen and family room on cloudy afternoons and dark evenings. Light candles at dinnertime. Tape handmade paper snowflakes in your children's windows and line up snowman figures on a bookcase.- Recycle holiday cards into thank-you notes, then take a "field trip" to the post office. Cut off the front of a card that depicts a wintery scene or colorfuldesign. On the plain backside, help your kids write a thank-you note. Tuck them into envelopes and go to the post office to mail the letters the old-fashioned way. Ask to see commemorative stamps and let your kids choose
as you explain to them
the people or events represented. They'll love adhering the illustrative stamps they've learned
about on their letters,
and dropping them in the mail slot.- Display holiday photo cards of far-flung relatives and best friends
on your family message board. Arrange at child height and refer to them
throughout the new year
to keep your kids familiar with the important people in their life.- Don't pack away holiday ornaments, glassware and linens with a heart motif quite yet.
Put them aside, along with bright-red serving trays and dishes, to use in February for Valentine's Day.©2021 Donna Erickson

Outdoor Opportunities By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Assorted Functional Accessories You Might Consider for 2021 (Part 2 of 2)

It's funny how you learn things from your parents, sometimes when they don't even realize they're teaching you a valuable life lesson. My first-year hunting in 1975, my dad had to work on opening day of deer season, so my grandfather took me out. My second year in 1976; dad had off, so he, Pop-Pop, and I headed out to Tuscarora State Forest in Mifflin County. Dad positioned me in a blow-down (a natural ground blind) about 25-yards downhill from the clump of trees he liked to conceal himself in. We were close enough that he could watch over me and give verbal guidance, if necessary. Just after noon, dad shot a nice 8-point about 45-yards west of our stands. As I walked over to see his downed deer, dad greeted me with words he probably doesn't even remember, but I'll never forget. "Those deer (the buck was with several does) were coming directly towards you, but when they saw you fidgeting to keep warm, they cut uphill about 100-yards out and since you couldn't see them, I took the shot when I saw antlers."

Right then as a 13-year-old, I learned something that's stuck with me ever since. Not being dressed properly and able to sit motionless for hours cost me the opportunity to kill a nice buck. Since then, whenever the plan is to stand hunt (remain stationary in one spot) rather than move about still hunting, stalking, or driving deer, I've learned to err on the side of comfort, rather than weight, when it comes to selecting clothing and gear. Weight is a primary consideration on a multi-day backpacking trip, but when you're deer hunting and only walking in a few hundred yards or possibly a few miles at most, I'll take the extras along to keep warm and remain absolutely motionless. (I can think of multiple bucks I've harvested that came my way because other hunters weren't dressed properly and had to move to keep warm.)

That is why my list of recommended functional accessories I shared last week (#1-6) to consider getting for yourself or giving as a gift to someone else was dominated by cold-weather items. This week, I'm continuing my list with a focus on items that come in handy in all temperatures and weather conditions.

7. Waist/Fanny Pack - For carrying items you may need quickly nothing beats a small pack attached around your waist. I have a camo one I use as my "possibles bag" when I hunt with my flintlock or inline muzzleloader. That way, everything I need to reload is readily accessible. They also make a convenient way to stow your cell phone (in a Ziploc bag), keys, and a water bottle when canoeing or kayaking.

8. Orange-Handled Knife - I've left my knife laying on a log after eviscerating a deer and had to walk back in to get it. Twice. Once it was only 100-yards, but in 2015 it involved a 1.5-mile trek back into where I shot my buck. Well, for Christmas 2020, my daughter Shannon and her husband Michael got me a beautiful Buck sheath knife with a non-slip bright orange handle to keep me from repeating my folly.

9. Over-Sized Ice Fishing Sled - This is probably one of my best investments ever in a non-traditional item used in a hunting application. My big ice fishing sled brought out my 2012 black bear and it's carried plenty of deer home in the bed of the truck, back of the SUV, or inside a mini-van. The sled keeps the associated mess of a freshly harvested deer from getting all over the interior or bed of your vehicle.

10. Rubber/Nitrile/Latex/Plastic Gloves - Proper care of your freshly downed game involves eviscerating it, right after you tag it. A pair of gutting gloves that cover your wrists or possibly the shoulder-length obstetric gloves farmers use make the necessary messy chore more bearable. Please remember to put your soiled gloves in a Ziploc bag and carry them back out with you for disposal.

11. Small Plastic Tubes - Typically sold at craft stores for hobbyists, these 3-inch tubes with screw-on lids usually cost around $4.00 for a dozen tubes and they come in handy for pre-measuring powder charges for your flintlock or inline muzzleloader. A few have made their way into my tackle box to keep split shot, swivels, and other small fishing accessories organized and readily available.

12. Permethrin Clothing Spray - So there's no misunderstanding here. I hate ticks! It seems like every year they keep becoming more plentiful. I've found the best way to do battle is to treat your hunting and outdoor work clothing with permethrin spray. Not safe to apply directly to your skin, permethrin around cuffs, collars, waists, and anywhere else a tick could get in is the best defense against the vile arachnids.

There you have it, a list (but nowhere all inclusive) of outdoor-related clothing and gear you may want to consider getting for yourself or someone you know to make time afield more pleasant and productive. Here's hoping 2021 is your best year ever outdoors! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors!

Our Best Defense

Read: Psalm 31:1-8

Be my rock of refuge, a fortress of defense to save me. Psalm 31:2

In late January 1956, during the tense days of the Montgomery Boycott, civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. could not sleep. A threatening phone call had terrified him. So he prayed, "I am here taking a stand for what I believe is right. But Lord, I must confess that I'm weak now, I'm faltering. I'm losing my courage. Now, I am afraid. . . . The people are looking to me for leadership, and if I stand before them without strength and courage, they too will falter. I am at the end of my powers. . . . I can't face it alone."

Dr. King later wrote, "At that moment I experienced the presence of the Divine as I never experienced Him before. It seemed as though I could hear the quiet assurance of an inner voice saying, 'Stand up for righteousness, stand up for truth; and God will be at your side forever.' Almost at once my fears began to go. My uncertainty disappeared. I was ready to face anything."

The rest is history. Dr. King wanted to see people of all colors free of the damage done by racism and prejudice.

If we face opposition when we're trying to do what's right, we too must cry out to the Lord. He alone is our "rock of refuge, a fortress of defense" (Ps. 31:2). He is our reliable source of strength and protection.

Lord, help me stand upon Your rock of Truth
And never trust myself to sinking sand;
Whenever I am faced with evil powers,
I'll call upon Your strong and mighty hand. - Hess

When we trust the power of God, we experience peace, not panic.

Natural Help for Optimum Health
Good Health should be our most important asset.
Why not take charge of your health today.

Most people on my whole health program see all their numbers go down: sugar, cholesterol, blood pressure, and weight. The only thing that increases is your energy, quality of sleep, and general overall health improves.

Strange But True

by Lucie Winborne

• Thought for the Day: "Life is mostly froth and bubble. Two things stand like stone. Kindness in another's trouble, courage in your own." – Adam Lindsay Gordon • Barbie's physical appearance was inspired by a German doll named Bild Lilli, created in 1952 and based on a high-end call girl named Lilli who was featured in the comic strip "Bild-Zeitung." She was sold as an adult novelty in bars and tobacco shops – definitely not as a children's toy. Barbie inventor Ruth Handler saw the doll while vacationing in Europe and brought it home.
