Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Tears on My Keyboard: I've Lost My Shadow Who Always Had My Back (Part 1 of 4)

WARNING: If you've never had a four-legged family member who you loved deeply and truly cherished spending time together with, you probably won't understand my following heartfelt words and you'll want to stop reading. However, if you know or have known how strong these bonds of friendship and trust can be between a human and a special creature who is so much more than a pet, please read on because you'll comprehend the joy we experienced together, the memories which last forever, and the pain that comes when you lose a special companion who was always by your side for a season in life.

March 1, 2021 made it eight years that I've had the distinct privilege of sharing my thoughts here in the Weekly Bargain Bulletin under the title, "Outdoor Opportunities". Sitting down for roughly three hours each week to capture my thoughts and craft my prose, rough math confirms I've completed this weekly "labor of love" over 400-times since 2013. What you have no way of knowing behind the scenes, is over that time span, I've written fewer than a dozen weekly columns away from home when I've been traveling for one reason or another; while the overwhelming majority were hand-written in rough draft and then typed up on our home computer with my German Shepherd lying by my side (expecting a loving periodic ear scratch or belly rub)! This is the first piece I've ever written at home without my faithful sidekick Colby by my side and I have to admit I'm struggling through it with tears in my eyes. The wealth of emotions pouring out is overwhelming and I'm just hoping I can keep my thoughts coherent for you to read. This is one series of columns I knew in my heart I would probably be writing at some point in 2021, but I kept hoping and praying that we would have more time together to just enjoy each other's company.

I still vividly recall how Colby came into our lives. After spending nearly two years as a "geographical bachelor" only seeing my wife and children three weekends a month while I was the Fort Indiantown Gap Garrison Commander (Mar. 2008 – Dec. 2009); my next assignment meant I was finally going to be living at home again, even though it required a daily 86-mile commute each way to Washington, PA. My first drill weekend as the full-time Officer-in-Charge of 2nd Brigade, 28th Infantry Division, PA Army National Guard in Jan. 2010 involved visiting several of the armories across Western PA that I was now responsible for. While we were wrapping up our tour of Hunt Armory in Pittsburgh (a place I had worked at from Dec. 1989 to Mar. 1993), fellow Colonel Mike Evans and I were approached by SSG Jacqueline Roman, the Company Supply Sergeant there. In a somewhat hesitant, yet anxious manner, she shared she raised German Shepherds and had a puppy she couldn't find a home for. After asking over 200 soldiers who drilled there at Hunt Armory and getting no positive responses, she was wondering if we Colonels with all our contacts across the entire brigade might know someone who could provide a good home for an unclaimed puppy. I had never met SSG Roman before, so I wrote down her name and the unit's phone number, and told her I would contact her if I came across anyone who might be interested in the puppy.

On the trip back to Brigade HQs in Washington, PA, I called my wife to talk to her about this German Shepherd puppy who needed a home. We had discussed the possibility of getting another dog and a German Shepherd was one breed our youngest daughter, Faith, had put on the list. Knowing the puppy's future was uncertain, I contacted SSG Roman the next day and told her we might be interested. We made the drive down to Munhall, adjacent to Pittsburgh, later that week to meet the puppy. We learned there were three pups in their young mother's first litter and unfortunately, she had rejected them after a week. SSG Roman had to bottle feed them and tragically, one puppy did not make it. The one male had been claimed and we were there to see the second male. Born in late November 2009, the puppy wasn't quite old enough to go home with us, but we were smitten and told SSG Roman we would take him to give him a good home. We learned the pup's father was named Jagr (SSG Roman was a Penguins fan) and since we were also Penguins fans, we decided to name our new puppy Colby, after Colby Armstrong, one of our favorite Penguins players at the time who was scrappy and somewhat of a perennial underdog.

Colby came to us in late Jan. 2010 and sadly due to ongoing health issues, we had to have him put to sleep last Friday, April 23, 2021. Over the next few weeks, I'll share details of our lives together and the close bond we shared. If you have a furry friend in your life, please pet them and tell them you love them for me, because unfortunately none of us have them forever. God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2021

by Sam Mazzotta

DEAR PAW'S CORNER:

My toddlers will not stop tormenting our pets! They chase the cat and pull his tail; they dive-bomb the dog and scare her every time she lays down for a nap. I'm tired of chasing after them and trying to stop them. What else can I do? Lock the pets in another room? — Susanna Y., Ogden, Utah

DEAR SUSANNA: Let me ask you this: Why should the pets be punished every time your toddlers misbehave? Your dog should be able to nap peacefully in her own doggie bed, and the cat should be able to sit quietly at the window.

That's the ideal, anyway. I know it's difficult, but consider that toddlers tend to react just as well to a punishment/reward system as most dogs (and some cats) do, if not more so. Make it clear that your kids are not to torment the pets – and that if they do, there will be consequences. As to the consequences: What are their favorite things to do? Play with specific toys? Watch certain Netflix Kids cartoons? Eat candy?

They may be very young, but threatening to (temporarily) remove one of their favorite activities or snacks can be effective. And of course, there's always the tried-and-true time out.

I wish I had more advice to give you. Chasing around toddlers is truly exhausting. Just try to be firm and make it clear that it's wrong for them to torment the pets. We'll all be able to get out of the house more soon. ©2020 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Now Here's A Tip by JoAnn Derson

- Using cold water for laundering protects colors and uses less energy.
- "Use lip balm to help a too-tight ring slide off of a finger. This happened to me when I tried on my sister's ring in church. I had some lip balm in my pocket, and it helped me get the ring off quickly and quietly without having to get up." - A.E. in WA
- If your phone's buzzing and ringing with alerts has you distracted during your workday, use the "do not disturb" function to create periods of quiet. Schedule blocks of deep focus time by making an appointment with yourself in your calendar. This can help you to organize your time to get things done. ©2021 King Features

Our Daily Bread

May Day

Today's Scripture: Genesis 8:15-22
While the earth remains . . . day and night shall not cease. — Genesis 8:22

When I was a young girl in West Michigan, we always celebrated spring and the blooming of the first flowers on May 1. I'd make a basket out of construction paper and fill it with any flowers I could find—mostly daffodils and violets. Then I would place the basket on my neighbor's doorstep, knock on her door, and quickly hide behind a bush. I'd peek out to watch her as she opened the door and picked up her surprise. When she went inside, I'd run home.

The beauty of springtime flowers and the regular changing of the seasons reminds us of God's faithfulness. When Noah and his family and the animals came out of the ark after the flood waters receded, God gave them this promise: "While the earth remains, seedtime and harvest, cold and heat, winter and summer, and day and night shall not cease" (Genesis 8:22). And He's been faithful to keep that promise ever since. God "made the worlds," and He continues to uphold "all things by the word of His power" (Hebrews 1:2-3).

Let's thank God today for His beautiful creation and for His faithfulness in sustaining His world and us. By: Anne Cetas

Look at the wonder of creation and say,
"What a wonderful God!"

Strange But True

by Lucie Winborne

• Donkey Kong got his curious moniker because his creator, Shigeru Miyamoto, believed "donkey" meant "stupid" in English and wanted to convey the impression that the character was a "stupid ape."

• Italian banker Gilberto Baschiera was a modern-day Robin Hood. Over a period of seven years, he secretly diverted 1 million euros from wealthy clients to poorer ones so they could qualify for loans. He made no profit from these dealings and avoided jail in 2018 with a plea bargain.

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson

• Keep soap scum at bay on your glass shower doors with a layer of car wax. But do NOT let the wax get on your shower floors. That could be unsafe.

• Give your garbage disposal some love and clean her out! Add a handful of baking soda and some crushed ice, then a cup of vinegar or lemon juice and follow up with hot water.

• Buff out small scratches in glass with toothpaste. Apply a small dab and rub in circles lightly, then wipe away.
