DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I read an article that says brewer's yeast is safe for cats and dogs. I disagree. I found several more articles online that say pets can be allergic to brewer's yeast. What do you say about that? - Carla L. via email

DEAR CARLA: Pet owners should always research and evaluate the risks of any supplement for their pets. Brewer's yeast is a mainstay for owners trying to find a natural flea control treatment, and others swear that its blend of B vitamins makes their pets healthier.

It has been found that brewer's yeast created for humans often contains ingredients like garlic and onions that are downright toxic to pets. Owners should purchase only brewer's yeast formulated for dogs or cats, as PetMD notes (www.petmd.com/dog/nutrition/brewers-yeast-dogs-understanding-benefits-and-risks).

Here are some other tips for picking the right brewer's yeast:

- Give only the amount recommended for your pet's size.
- Brewer's yeast that has been "de-bittered" lacks chromium, a mineral that helps regulate blood sugar in humans but hasn't been studied in dogs.
- Read the label carefully: Some brewer's yeast for pets contains garlic, which can be toxic, especially for smaller pets.
- Consider a brewer's yeast that includes omega-3 oils for added benefits.
- This supplement can add up to 80 calories to your pet's meal. It can also cause excess gas.

Some pets really are allergic to the yeast itself, though. Avoid giving brewer's yeast to dogs with known yeast allergy, who have digestive illnesses like colitis, or who are immunocompromised. Always monitor your pet for new behaviors or symptoms after giving them any new supplement.

• "Use purified water in your coffemaker to lengthen its life. Water deposits build up and affect both the flavor and function of your machine. They can be cleaned, but it's much better if you use purified drinking water from a jug. It makes it very easy to fill the machine, too." - M.E. in Wyoming

"For what credit is it if, when you are beaten for your faults, you take it patiently? But when you do good and suffer, if you take it patiently, this is commendable before God. For to this you were called, because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that you should follow His steps: "Who committed no sin, Nor was deceit found in His mouth"; who, when He was reviled, did not revile in return; when He suffered, He did not threaten, but committed Himself to Him who judges righteously; who Himself bore our sins in His own body on the tree, that we, having died to sins, might live for righteousness - by whose stripes you were healed. 1 Peter 2:20-24

• Line junk drawers in the kitchen or bathroom with inexpensive sheets of cork board. Things don't slide around as much, and you can even use pushpins or finishing nails lightly inserted into the cork to make custom compartments in the drawers.

• When you are frying up ground beef, add a tablespoon or two of water. It will help the excess grease to pull away from the meat, making it easier to drain off.

• When kneading dough for bread or pizza crust, spray your hands with nonstick cooking spray.

• "Purchase colorful laundry baskets for each child in your home. In the evening, you can have the child find all his or her stray items, put them in the basket and then put them away. In our house, the kids also use their basket to hold anything they need for school the next day - backpack, coats and outerwear, even boots. We stack the baskets by the door, and nothing gets left behind." - P.W. in Missouri

Donna's Day Creative family fun

by Donna Erickson

If your young kids and grandkids like blowing bubbles, they'll love this activity. When the colored bubbles dry on construction paper, they will become the eye-catching background for one-of-a-kind artwork.

Here's the stuff you'll need:
 * Pie pan or wide-mouth cup
 * Liquid poster paint
 * Liquid dishwashing detergent and water, or commercial bubble blowing solution
 * Markers or crayons
 * White or light-colored construction paper or cardstock
 * Drinking straws
 * Paper to cover worktable

Blow a Bubble Card

Here's the fun:

1. Cover your work surface with newspaper or butcher paper. In the pie pan or cup, stir together 1 cup water, two to three tablespoons paint and one tablespoon detergent. Or, add paint to the bubble-blowing solution.
2. Place a straw in the mixture and blow into the straw to create colored bubbles billowing over the edge of the container. Remove the straw.
3. Fold a piece of construction paper in half to form a card, or use the front of the card on top of the bubbles and hold it in place until several colored bubbles have popped and transferred their shapes onto the paper. Continue the process with different colors, if you wish. Set aside to dry. (If the bubble prints are not as dark as you'd like, add more paint to the mixture and blow again.)
4. Use markers to add drawings to the dried bubble prints, such as a jet flying through the bubble "clouds" for a "Bon Voyage" card. Write a message inside the card and sign it. Tuck into an envelope for a unique greeting or summer thank-you note to a friend or relative.

NOTE: Remind children to be careful not to suck on the straw when blowing the bubble solution. If you clip two holes about halfway down the straw, children will be less able to suck in the bubbles.

AN ODD PROBLEM! Professor Flunkum challenges you to arrange five odd numbers so that they add up to 20. The same number can be used more than once. (There's a catch, natch.)

Answer: 13 + 3 + 3 + 3 + 1 = 20. (13 counts as two odd numbers.)

FIND THE HATS! Hidden in the grid are the names of eight types of hats. Starting at any letter, spell a name by going from letter to letter horizontally, vertically or diagonally. •Preheat oven to 375°. Grease and flour a 10" tube pan. Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. Set aside. In a large bowl, combine oil and sugar. Add eggs one at a time and mix well. Add the flour mixture and beat until smooth. Add nuts and pumpkin and blend until smooth. Pour batter into greased 10 inch tube pan. 6 cups apple cider
1/4 cup real maple syrup
2 cinnamon sticks
6 whole cloves
6 whole allspice berries
1 orange peel, cut into strips
1 lemon peel, cut into strips
•Pour the apple cider and maple syrup into a large stainless steel saucepan. Place the cinnamon sticks, cloves, allspice berries, orange peel and lemon peel in the center of a washed square of cheesecloth; fold up the sides of the cheesecloth to enclose the bundle, then tie it up with a length of kitchen string. Drop the spice bundle into the cider mixture. Place the saucepan over moderate heat for 5 to 10 minutes, or until the cider is very hot but not boiling. Remove the cider from the heat. Discard the spice bundle. Ladle the cider into big cups or mugs, adding a fresh cinnamon stick to each serving if desired.

Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Finally At Long Last on September 22 Fabulous
Autumn Looms Large!

I know, English class may or may not bring back good memories from your school days. In fact, you may or may not have been paying attention when your English teacher explained the difference between an acronym (a pronounced word formed by the first letter of each word in a phrase, such as ASAP - "As Soon As Possible") and an acrostic (where you take each letter of a word and make a sentence or word which has some meaning related to the original word). By those definitions, I have to say I used two weak acrostics in my title for this piece, both using the word FALL. Now, you might ask, why would he do that? Because Fall officially starts on Wed., Sep. 22, 2021 at 3:20 PM in the Northern Hemisphere when the Sun is exactly above the Equator, giving us roughly equal 12-hours of daylight and darkness, and Fall is officially by far my favorite season of the year! I love the 91-days each year between Sep. 22 and Dec. 21 as the temperatures cool, the leaves wonderfully change colors, and outdoor opportunities abound!

Now, my bringing up English class and the things you studied there may be a sore subject for some, but I'll bet something that might bring a smile to your face from your school days is the thought of a hall pass. You know, that simple piece of paper from a teacher, administrator, or secretary giving you permission to wander the empty halls while everyone else was stuck in class. There was a certain feeling of freedom and exhilaration that came with receiving a hall pass. Well, I want you to read this piece and consider this your official "Fall Pass" to get outdoors as much as possible over the upcoming 91-day period we call Autumn or Fall, and I encourage you to enjoy participating in as many outdoor activities as you can possibly fit in the time available! I know I will be all over the map, literally and figuratively, so allow me to share ideas on the wide variety of outdoor opportunities we can all pick from to fill our days.

First of all, everything seems to go better in the Fall with more comfortable temperatures, less humidity, fewer bugs, and the ever-present, awe-inspiring backdrop of the vibrant colors of the changing leaves. Some of the maples and staghorn sumacs are already starting to turn red as a prelude of what's to come in the upcoming weeks as we move into October. Fall is an ideal time to get outdoors and walk more, hike more, bike more, camp more, canoe more, kayak more, geocache more, and do everything more that gets you outside to enjoy the fresh air and remarkable colors of Penn's Woods. Please allow me to encourage you while walking, hiking, biking, or doing anything else out in the woods this Fall to wear fluorescent orange whenever possible, since it is also hunting season and with multiple compatible uses of our abundant public lands, it's imperative everyone is as proactively safety-conscious as possible.

Second, Fall is an ideal time for family-related outdoor activities, which are as equally enjoyable for adults as they are for children. These outdoor activities include, but are not limited to: apple and pumpkin picking, corn mazes, hayrides, going on a leisurely drive for some colorful canopy observing, and even leaf raking. Granted, playing in the leaf piles may be more fun for the children than for the adults, who will probably have to rake them up a second time, but remember the positive, you're making memories as a family. Cooler temperatures also seem to be an ideal time to sit around the campfire or a backyard fire pit, and the darkness just seems to make everyone's eyes turn upward for a little stargazing on a clear Autumn night. Take time for some stimulating wildlife-watching with your family. Whether that's traveling up to the PA Wilds Region to see the elk, heading out locally to spotlight deer some night, or looking skyward to observe migrating raptors, waterfowl, and assorted songbirds. This year, I plan on expanding my foraging efforts for wild edibles, such as puffballs, acorns, hickory nuts, and black walnuts.

Finally, the biggest competitors for my time each Fall are hunting and fishing. The fish know Winter is coming and they gorge themselves in preparation for leaner times. Fall is an excellent time to catch smallmouth bass, steelhead, catfish, and a wide variety of other species. My only limitation is how much time I'll permit my fishing to take away from my hunting efforts. Fall in my mind equals hunting season and I have to be careful to check which seasons are open for what species when, since the days seem to fly by at a faster pace each Fall. There are a few species huntable right now, such as Canada geese, doves, and squirrels, and deer become legal quarry for archers very soon. So much to do each Autumn and so much to potentially write about. I can hardly wait to do as much as possible outdoors in 2021. If you want my humble opinion, "Fall is the best time for it all!" God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2021

Hands-On Learning

Imitate me, as I imitate Christ. 1 Corinthians 11:1
Today's Scripture & Insight: Titus 2:1-8

My six-year-old son, Owen, was thrilled to receive a new board game. But after a half hour reading the rules, he was frustrated. He couldn't quite figure out how it worked. It wasn't until later, when a friend came over who already knew how to play, that Owen finally got to enjoy his present.

Watching them play, I was reminded of how much easier it is to learn something new if you have an experienced teacher. When we're learning, reading the instructions helps, but having a friend who can demonstrate makes a huge difference.

The apostle Paul understood this too. Writing to Titus about how he could help his church grow in faith, Paul emphasized the value of experienced believers who could model Christian faith. Of course teaching "sound doctrine" was important, but it didn't just need to be talked about—it needed to be lived out. Paul wrote that older men and women ought to be self-controlled, kind, and loving (Titus 2:2-5). "In everything," he said, "set them an example by doing what is good" (v. 7).

I'm thankful for solid teaching, but I'm also thankful for the many people who have been hands-on teachers. They've shown me by their lives what it looks like to be a disciple of Christ and have made it easier for me to see how I can walk that path too.
By: Amy Peterson

Reflect & Pray

What lessons have you learned from those who have taught you about living for Jesus by their words and actions? What are others seeing as they view your faith in action?

God, thank You for graciously giving us mentors who can show us by example how to live for You, and thank You for giving us Your Son, the only perfect model of faith.
