Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Future Conservation Ambassadors Get Started at the Wildlife Leadership Academy

You're probably familiar with the term nostalgic and its meaning

"to long for the good old days or how things were in the past". If you're 30 or older, you can probably think of a few examples of things you are nostalgic for "from back when you were a kid". Funny thing is, I couldn't find an applicable word in the English language for the opposite of nostalgic, where the definition means, "you wish something that exists today was present back when you were a kid". I really could have used that word recently because I came across something that exists now, which really could have benefitted me back when I was a student.

I'm talking about a nonprofit organization here in Pennsylvania, the Wildlife Leadership Academy (WLA), whose mission is: to engage and empower high school age youth (ages 14 to 17 - students going into their freshman through senior years) to become Conservation Ambassadors to ensure a sustained wildlife, fisheries and natural resource legacy for future generations. The WLA is a Supporting Member of the Pennsylvania Outdoor Writers Association (POWA) and the WLA's Executive Director, Dr. Sara Mueller, is our Supporting Member Representative to the POWA Board. I've had the privilege of getting to know Sara and her passionate work with young people through our professional interactions and that recently resulted in my receiving an invitation to travel out to 800-acre scenic Camp Krislund in Centre County to speak to the students attending one of the WLA's 5-day outdoor-focused field schools.

You might not recall where you were on the Summer Solstice, the day with the longest daylight in the Northern Hemisphere, but I'll always recall where I was on June 20, 2024. I wasn't scheduled to speak to the students until 7:30 PM about POWA, outdoor writing, and telling the outdoor story to others in print media; but I was invited to come early and I took advantage of the opportunity to see what goes on at a WLA field school. The five sessions of WLA field school each have a central theme and I was there during "Bucktails", which focuses on white-tailed deer and the management of their habitat.

I met the WLA staff and students at the Liberty Township Sportsmen's Associations' grounds near Bald Eagle State Park at 3 PM. The 24-students in attendance, along with their accompanying youth mentors, adult mentors, and WLA staff members were broken down into four groups to attend concurrent station instruction. The 45-minute sessions included: archery, air rifle marksmanship, trapshooting, and an informative session with two members of the USDA Wildlife Services sharpshooters, who conduct regulated deer culls for municipalities and public lands where hunting cannot adequately keep the deer population in balance with the habitat's carrying capacity. Several of the students had never shot a bow, air rifle, or shotgun, so it was interesting to watch their rapid progress and increased proficiency under the tutelage of instructors from either Centre County 4-H or the Liberty Township Sportsmen's Association.

The 30-minute drive back to Camp Krislund was through the magnificent ridge-and-valley portion of Central PA. I enjoyed dinner in the dining hall with several members of the WLA staff, including Dr. Chris Sacchi, Chair of the Biology Department at Kutztown University of Pennsylvania. We enjoyed a fascinating discussion of the impact of wildfire on plant ecology and how some species require periodic fire to perpetuate. After dinner, I got to witness the students participating in a team-building exercise I hadn't experienced before. They had to cooperatively use a rubber strap, that they individually pulled in five directions to open and close to lift and stack five #10 cans in a pyramid configuration. It took several minutes for them to figure out how to communicate and coordinate their efforts, but they eventually got it and learned a lot about working together. My four twilight instruction sessions went very well; however, I had to compete with a family of barn swallows nesting under the dining hall porch's eaves behind me.

The other four WLA field schools this summer include: Bass (smallmouths), Brookies (brook trout), Gobblers (wild turkeys), and Ursids (black bears). The WLA is the place for young people with a desire to pursue a future career in wildlife, fisheries, or conservation to build a foundation and make connections for higher education and future employment. Students have come since 2007 from all 67 PA counties, as well as 12 other states and DC. If you know a young person who might be interested in the Wildlife Leadership Academy in 2025, please check out their website: wildlifeleadershipacademy.org for more information. They maintain a contact and employment opening database for alumni. While I missed out on this opportunity, someone reading this might truly benefit! God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors! ©WBB 2024 in the evening. My husband and I never go anywhere without our dog "Ranger," and while we want to attend, we know the fireworks will upset our dog. Should I tell our in-laws to cancel the fireworks part of the cookout? - April H., Tavares, Florida

DEAR APRIL: You can certainly ask your brother-in-law to nix the fireworks, but be prepared for a chilly reception to your request.

Family dynamics can be difficult to navigate, and doubly so during big holidays that feature loud music and fireworks. Consider some other options: - Can you leave Ranger at home for a few hours to attend this party? - Do you absolutely have to go? Will your relatives be hurt if you don't attend? - Are you able to have a calm conversation with your brother-in-law about fireworks and how stressful they are for pets? - Could you make an appearance and then leave before the fireworks begin?

As a pet owner myself, I know how difficult the Fourth of July holiday can be for pets. The explosions, even from a distance, can really stress them out. I've had these conversations with fellow pet owners. Most of them choose option number four: They attend parties in the afternoon to enjoy the cookout and leave before the fireworks start. That way, they can be at home to comfort their pets if any fireworks go off nearby. This may be the way for you to go. But you can also opt to just "nope" out of the party entirely. It's your choice.

Antiques and Collecting by Terry and Kim Kovel

Q: I'm looking for some advice on selling antique Coca-Cola items. I have some 1920s brown bottles, lithographed cardboard signs from 1948 to the 1950s, and mirrors from the 1970s to 1980s.

A: Coca-Cola syrup was invented by pharmacist Dr. John Stith Pemberton. The first glass of Coca-Cola was sold at a soda fountain in Atlanta in 1886. Coca-Cola has become one of the world's most recognized brands. Thousands of Coca-Cola advertising items have been made and are popular collectibles today. There is even a club for collec-

Our Daily Bread

A Strong Constitution

Read: 1 Peter 2:1-10

You are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, His own special people. —1 Peter 2:9

The Declaration of Independence of the United States speaks of all people being "created equal" and that we are endowed with certain "unalienable rights." The Constitution guarantees that the government will protect those rights for all its citizens. These two documents clearly reveal that the nation's freedom depends largely on a strong constitution.

The Bible is a more far-reaching "bill of rights" than either of these documents. It originated with God, who backs it with His justice, His concern for all people, and His sovereignty. And it is the only charter that guarantees freedom from sin's penalty and power.

A man went to a clergyman to get some advice about religious virtue and the freedom it brings. "What must I do to attain holiness?" he asked. The pastor replied, "Follow your heart." Then he added, "To follow your heart you are going to need a strong constitution." "Which constitution?" asked the man. "The Bible!" said the pastor.

Peter said that Christians, as "a holy nation," are to "proclaim the praises of Him who called [us] out of darkness into His marvelous light" (1 Peter 2:9). There we find true freedom. When we live by our "constitution," we will be able to enjoy our rights and fulfill our calling. By Dennis J. De Haan

God's changeless Word will change our lives,
But we must do our part;
When we live out its principles,
We'll keep it in our heart. —Sper

The best constitution in the world is the Bible.

Now Here's A Tip
by JoAnn Derson

• Create your own charging station: Find a wooden box large enough to hold a multi-strip power connection and pretty enough to sit on the counter. Drill one hole in the side to fit the plug. In the top of the box, create holes through which you can fit your electronics connectors (cellphones, iPad, camera, etc.). All the cords will be stored in the box, out of sight.

• Fireworks can be a lot of fun for the kids, especially sparklers. To keep it safe, use a water bucket for spent sparklers. Another idea is to have an adult stationed at the bucket. The children must "turn in" a used sparkler to get a new one. The kids love to hear the sizzle, their feet won't get burned on hot sparklers underfoot, and there will be no stray sparklers in the grass hidden for later. (Thanks, J.C.!)
• "I use the large pails of kitty litter. They have a lid that can be removed completely but also has a pour spout. I save my empties to collect rainwater. I remove the lid and set them out to catch water when it rains, then put the lid on so that the water does not attract mosquitoes. I use it to water my flowers between storms."
