PAW'S CORNER
by Sam Mazzotta

DEAR PAW'S CORNER: I am a brand-new pet sitter with four clients. I'm able to take one pet at a time into my home to care for them when their owners are traveling for long stretches, and I do home visits for the others. Well, the toy poodle I have in my care for the next three weeks brought an unpleasant surprise: fleas! Normally I would ask the client to clear up the flea problem before pet-sitting services can continue, but I'm already caring for the dog, so I'm stuck. What should I do? - Jane H. in Wellesley, Massachusetts

DEAR JANE: Immediately contact the client to inform them. Then ask for their permission to treat the dog. If they only want you to use a specific treatment, follow their instructions. Save your receipts for any flea treatments purchased.

A flea infestation can spread to the other pets you care for, so follow these steps to reduce infestation:

- Isolate the dog from most areas of your home until he has completed treatment and you are brushing away only dead fleas.
- Mop and vacuum your entire home daily, especially the corners. (Hint: Put a brand-new flea collar inside the vacuum cleaner bag to kill the fleas that are sucked in.)
- Wash or steam clean area rugs and drapes, and the dog's bedding.
- Wash clothes that you have worn around the dog. (Hint: Set the clothes dryer to a medium or high heat setting, which will kill most eggs and fleas.)

This is a good time to review and update your pet-sitting contract. Add a clause requiring pets to be free of fleas, ticks and communicable diseases, as well as a clause that says owners must reimburse you for expenses incurred if their pet causes an infestation. ©2025 King Features Synd., Inc.

Kovels

Antiques and Collecting
by Terry and Kim Kovel

Q: I have a clock left to me and we have to downsize, so I'd like to sell it. Can you help me?

A: A working clock always sells, whether it's to a homeowner looking to furnish a room or to a collector willing to pay for a rare piece. Find out as much as you can about your clock: its style, maker, material, approximate age, condition, etc. Look closely at the dial, including the edge, and at the backplate of the movement. A maker's name or mark, patent date or serial number are helpful details. There are many books about identifying antique clocks; look for them at your library. Once you have identifying information, check price guides like Kovel's or look at antique stores and shows or online auction results to see what similar clocks sell for. Clocks sell at most antique and estate auctions. If there is a clock repair service in your area, they may be able to help you. You may also want to contact the National Association of Watch & Clock Collectors (www.nawcc.org) for more information.

TIP: Never wash lacquered wood. Just wipe it clean with a damp cloth. Water could seep into the base wood and cause damage.

Strange But True by Lucie Winborne

- St. Lucia is the only country in the world named after a woman. Originally called the Island of the Iguanas by early Carib settlers, the name was later changed after French seamen were shipwrecked there on Dec. 13, the feast day of St. Lucy.
- Cockroaches are so repulsed by humans that if they're touched by a human, not only do they run away, but they wash themselves. (Personal to cockroaches: The feeling is mutual!) ©2025 King Features Synd., Inc.
- Porsche's first car, in 1898, was electric.

Out on a Limb
 by Gary Kopervas

MOST IMPORTANT REASONS
Why To Consider
HEARING AIDS

FACT: Several studies have proven that untreated hearing loss can lead to Dementia and Alzheimer's.

FACT: Hearing aids reduced the rate of cognitive decline in older adults at high risk of dementia by almost 50%.

FACT: Hearing aids are a safe way to lower the risk of falling and dizziness.

FACT: Understanding speech and listening to conversations has an overall improvement when hearing aids are utilized.

FACT: You hear with your brain as well as your ears and hearing aids will supply sound to your central nervous system and allow those cells to become more active and useful.

FACT: Long term if you deprive those sounds and the hearing nerve cells are not used they may atrophy or diminish.

FACT: Energy and awareness increases allowing the oxygen and sound to keep active giving the brain less strain and stress.

FACT: Overall the gift of hearing is being able to hear when being spoken to and communicate with people... a primary reason to be fitted with hearing aids.

I invite you to make an appointment for a complete hearing exam and learn more about what you are hearing and what you are not.

You will be given the best advice and counselled on whether you are in need of hearing aid(s) and we can then offer you the best fit according to your budget... needs... and technology.

Call today: Open Mon.-Thurs. 9:30 am to 4:00 pm

Our Daily Bread

Brokenness that Blesses

We have this treasure in jars of clay.
2 Corinthians 4:7. READ James 2:3-6

His back is hunched, and he walks with a cane, but his many years of spiritual shepherding are evidence that he leans on God—the source of his strength. In 1993, the Reverend William Barber II was diagnosed with a debilitating disease that causes the vertebrae of the spine to fuse together. In a not-so-subtle way, he was told, “Barber, you probably gonna need to figure out another thing to do besides pastoring, because the church ain’t gonna want [someone disabled] to be their pastor.” But Barber overcame that hurtful comment. God has not only used him as a pastor, but he’s also been a powerful, respected voice for underserved and marginalized people.

Though the world may not fully know what to do with those with disabilities, God does. Those who value beauty and brawn and things that money can buy can miss the good that accompanies uninvited brokenness. The rhetorical question of James and the principle underneath it are worth considering: “Has not God chosen those who are poor in the eyes of the world to be rich in faith and to inherit the kingdom he promised those who love him?” (James 2:5). When health or strength or other things are reduced, one’s faith needn’t follow suit. By God’s strength, it can be the opposite. Our lack can be a catalyst to trust Him. Our brokenness, as was the case with Jesus, can be used of Him to bring good to our world. By Arthur Jackson

In what ways are you weak or broken? How can your weakness be used as an asset to encourage others? Father, please help me to bring You honor despite my weaknesses.

Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Casting Some Illumination on the Dark Night Skies Above Us (Part 1 of 3)

I recently learned an interesting fact about Pennsylvania. While I've known that February is the coyote mating season in the Commonwealth, I did not know there are 30 organized coyote hunts conducted by rod & gun clubs, fraternal organizations, and social clubs all across the state each year. Locally, I'm familiar with the annual coyote hunts held by Possum Hollow Sportsmen's Club in Wampum and the Johnson Club in Hillsville. Then, there is PA's largest, which many local hunters participate in, which is conducted by the Mosquito Creek Sportsmen's Club in Frenchville (Clearfield County) and typically draws over 20,000 participants, since it allows coyotes to be pursued in any of PA's 67-counties.

For many avid hunters, coyotes mean hunting at night when most sane people are sleeping comfortably in their beds. I've made many a "third shift" vigil, dressing warmly to hunt from 11 PM to 7 AM, in order to be outdoors when coyotes are most active and often vocal. One of the things that keeps me wide awake and focused while waiting for a wily coyote to make an appearance is the vast beautiful night skies above on a clear cold night. Especially, if you are hunting in a more remote area with very little ambient light pollution from homes, business, and streetlights. There, the dark sky really comes alive with the natural light sources above us: the Moon, the stars, galaxies, and the occasional meteor/"shooting star", along with bright periodic manmade objects traversing the horizon in the form of satellites or a chance sighting of the International Space Station. I have to admit I'm intrinsically enamored with the celestial bodies above us in the night skies and will eagerly look upward whether coyote hunting, night fishing, sitting by a campfire, walking the dog, or doing just about else anything that takes me outdoors on a dark night.

From the earliest men and women, up until today, I believe human beings have always been in awe of the dark night skies above us. Unfortunately, I believe many people today are not as connected to celestial objects as our ancestors once were, when they used the Moon to measure the passing of time and the stars to navigate by. (Things that are still possible, but very few individuals practice.) Allow me to share a few facts, so when you are outdoors on a dark night, you can be more aware of what's happening in the skies.

reflects the light from the Sun striking its surface. A new moon is when there is 0% illumination, since the Moon is positioned between the Earth and the Sun. Therefore, during a new moon the "dark side" of the Moon is towards Earth and no sunlight is reflected. Conversely, halfway between new moons, so in roughly 14.25-days, is the full moon when 100% of the Moon's face is reflecting sunlight and the Moon appears largest and brightest. Occasionally, the Moon's orbit around the Earth will take it through the Earth's shadow during a full moon. That time-lapsed obscuration is referred to as a lunar eclipse. Lunar eclipses typically occur once or twice a year, but have been recorded up to five times in one year when conditions are right.

Two basic terms applied to the Moon that many folks confuse are a waxing moon and a waning moon. A waxing moon is when it is "growing" or become more illuminated each night as it transitions from new moon (0% illumination) to full moon (100% illumination). While a waning moon transitions in the opposite direction when it comes to percentage of illumination, "shrinking" from full moon (100%) down to new moon (0%). I know it sounds corny, but one elementary school teacher used a reference from the 1984 film, "The Karate Kid," to teach his students when it comes to the moon, "it's wax on, wane off."

If we run through the entire 29.5-day lunar cycle beginning with the new moon, we learn some interesting terminology. A waxing crescent is a moon $\frac{3}{4}$ dark on the left, $\frac{1}{4}$ right side illuminated. A first quarter is $\frac{1}{2}$ left dark, $\frac{1}{2}$ right illuminated. A waxing gibbous is $\frac{1}{4}$ left dark, $\frac{3}{4}$ right illuminated. A full moon is 100% illuminated. Then things go in the opposite direction. A waning gibbous is $\frac{3}{4}$ illuminated on the left, $\frac{1}{4}$ dark on the right. A third quarter is $\frac{1}{2}$ left illuminated, $\frac{1}{2}$ right dark. A waning crescent is $\frac{1}{4}$ left illuminated, $\frac{3}{4}$ right dark. And finally, we are back to a new moon (0% illumination). Remember, when observing the Moon, if the brightness is on the right side it's waxing, while brightness left is a waning.

Next week, we'll explore how animal and fish behavior, in addition to the tides, are influenced by the Moon and then we'll shift our focus onto the stars above! ©WBB 2025

Natural Help for Optimum Health
Good Health should be our most important asset. Why not take charge of your health today.

Most people on my whole health program see all their numbers go down: sugar, cholesterol, blood pressure, and weight. The only thing that increases is your energy, quality of sleep, and general overall health improves.

• Parents of twins (or other multiples): It really does make a difference when you join a multiples club or keep in touch with an organization for that purpose. Most do clothing swaps or sales fairly often, and the money you'll save in the clothing the first year is worthwhile.

Now Here's A Tip
 by JoAnn Derson

• "On chore days, I write each chore or step of a chore on a sticky note and attach them to the kitchen counter. Then we all get together and decide who will do what. We end up with our stack of sticky notes and can complete the chores in an organized fashion." – R.E. in Alabama

• "For a small splinter that is buried, try this trick before you go digging around with a tweezer or a sterilized needle. Use a piece of banana peel laid pulp-side-down over the splinter and cover it with a bandage. Leave it on overnight if possible. It has something to do with the enzymes in the peel as it ripens, but it will help draw out the splinter. The peel needs to be nice and ripe, and it might take a couple of tries." – D.M.
