Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

When Your Time Comes to "Stand in the Door!"

Back on March 22, my wife and I had the opportunity to meet up with eight lifelong friends from Delta Theta Sigma Agricultural Fraternity at Penn State in order to travel over to Columbiana County, OH to visit a much-loved fraternity brother, who is battling cancer. On the drive back, we passed a sign for a small airport that offers skydiving. Al was driving and from the backseat, his wife Linda mentioned that she intends on jumping tandem to boldly celebrate her 70th birthday. That got me thinking about my many experiences as a U.S. Army paratrooper and the times I got to "jump out of a perfectly good airplane."

I put on the uniform for the very first time as an Army ROTC Cadet at Penn State on Thursday, August 20, 1981. I think it was that very first day that we were gruffly told by an E-7 (Sergeant First Class), "You Legs better get a move on it!" Everything was completely new to me, but I quickly learned "a Leg" was a term of not-so-much endearment someone who is airborne-qualified uses to categorize someone who is not airborne-qualified, shorthand for "straight leg infantry" soldiers, who march on foot to the battle. I hadn't considered it before, but I think the seed to become a paratrooper was planted in my mind then.

I waited until 18-months after my commissioning for the opportunity to attend Airborne School at Fort Benning, Georgia. The Army made the decision to transition Alaska's 172nd Separate Infantry Brigade into the 6th Infantry Division (Light) in 1986. Part of that transition involved sending all E-5's (Sergeants) and above in the Infantry Companies to the new Light Leader Course at Fort Benning. This included each Infantry Company's habitually attached Fire Support Officer/Sergeant, and Forward Observers. (It was my job to coordinate and execute fires for the company, which included: field artillery, mortars, close air support, attack helicopters, and naval gunfire.) After 6-weeks of the Light Leader Course at Fort Benning, when everyone else returned to Alaska, my Fire Support Sergeant, SSG Carpenter and I remained to attend Airborne School. I was a newly promoted 1st Lieutenant at the time and already Air Assault qualified, so those three weeks brought me lots of extra push-ups and pull-ups to amuse the "Black Hats," our instructors. Airborne School consists of Ground Week, Tower Week, and Jump Week; all preparing you physically and mentally to safely exit an aircraft going 120 knots at roughly 1400 feet and then successfully execute a Parachute Landing Fall (PLF) when you hit the ground, either day or night.

When we returned to Fort Wainwright, SSG Carpenter and I assumed our new Fire Support roles with Charlie Company (Airborne), 4-9th Infantry. Our first tactical jump was in January 1987 during a major training exercise, Brim Frost '87. We jumped at a desolate airfield on the southwest side of Mount McKinley and Denali National Park. As a "newbie," the Company Commander (a Captain) gave me door position, so I would be the first one out of the right side looking back. Starting six minutes out from the drop zone, the jumpmaster gave his nine standard commands: 1. Get Ready; 2. Outboard Personnel Stand Up; 3. Inboard Personnel Stand Up; 4. Hook Up; 5. Check Static Lines; 6. Check Equipment; 7. Sound off for Equipment Check; 8. Stand in the Door, and finally 9. GO! When I exited the aircraft, it was minus 43-degrees and with the C-130 traveling 120 knots, the windchill was minus 145-degrees. After getting canopy in 4-seconds, my parachute descent and landing in almost 7-feet of snow are an interesting story for another day. I was happy to have the first of my eventual six tactical jumps in Alaska under my belt.

Going out an aircraft door with a parachute is an adrenaline fueled, tense moment, that would terrify most folks. However, it is a great analogy for life. The ride was bumpy with turbulence. Then there is the great unknown of stepping out that door. Unfortunately, whether any of us like it or not, we're all going to step out the door eventually from life into death after we take our last breath and our final heartbeat. That is what Easter is all about. Like Airborne School prepares you to step out of a perfectly good aircraft, having a personal relationship with Christ and accepting the salvation he offers, provides comfort knowing where you are going when you exit this life. Jesus tells us in Revelation 3:20 - "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and eat with him, and he with me." Jesus does not force anyone to become a believer; it is an individual decision we all must make for ourselves. You either accept Him as Lord and Savior, or you don't. This Easter Sunday, please attend the church of your choice to hear the Easter message with an open heart and mind. Then, when you "Stand in the Door," you'll know your destination!

God Bless, Be Safe,

Lament to Praise

He said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom." Luke 23:42.
READ Luke 23:32-34, 39-43

Several legends surround the naming of the beautiful five-petaled flower the forget-me-not. Among those stories is one from a German legend. According to the story, as God named all the plants He'd created, one little flower worried that it would be overlooked. So the flower called out, "Forget-me-not, O Lord." And that's the name God gave to it.

Though this is only a story, the forget-me-not has become a symbol of love and remembrance. Yet all of us have experienced what it feels like to be forgotten. To be remembered—especially to be remembered by our God—is our heart's true desire. We find just such a story in the account of the crucifixion of Jesus. Luke tells us, "Two other men, both criminals, were also led out with [Jesus] to be executed" (23:32). As they were being crucified, one criminal next to Christ suddenly understood. He said, "Jesus, remember me when you come into your kingdom" (v. 42). Christ's response was unforgettable: "Truly I tell you, today you will be with me in paradise" (v. 43).

What an amazing moment! In his darkest hour, that criminal learned what it meant to be remembered by the Son of God. We too are remembered in our hour of need. The God who loved us enough to die for us will never forget us. By Bill Crowder

REFLECT and PRAY
When have you felt forgotten? How will you turn to Jesus today and permit Him to turn your lament into praise?

Dear Father, in those moments when I may feel forgotten, please remind me of Your abiding, loving presence in my life and encourage me with Your grace.

Strange But True by Lucie Winborne

- Pablo Picasso became a suspect in the 1911 Mona Lisa theft after it was discovered he had kept sculptures stolen from the Louvre by a friend.

- In 1996, two neighbors in Devon, England, hooted at each other for an entire year while believing they were actually communicating with owls.
- Thought for the Day: "Until you value yourself, you won't value your time. Until you value your time, you will not do anything with it." - M. Scott Peck

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson

- Easily thread a needle with hairspray. Spritz the end of your thread with a little high-hold hairspray and pull taut. It will be much easier to thread this way.
- Keep your crisper drawer clean by lining with fresh newspaper. It will absorb smells and liquid, and can be replaced easily.

- "Candle nubs – the little bit left when the candle has burned down all the way – can be easily removed from a candleholder by setting the whole thing in the freezer for 10-15 minutes. The wax surface hardens and shrinks, making it easier to chip out. Same goes for linens that have wax drips: freeze and chip away, then use a degreasing spot cleaner." – Y.G. in Arkansas
