Strange But True

by Lucie Winborne

- At one time airplane windows were square, but their sharp corners acted as weak points that cracked under high altitude cabin pressure.
- A mantis shrimp can see colors that humans cannot.
- Ever feel like your cellphone is buzzing even when it isn't? That's because our brains can get so addicted to notifications that it can literally invent them.

Paw's corner by Sam Mazzotta

DEAR PAW'S CORNER:

My neighbor's puppy has a ton of toys that he chews on all the time. Is this healthy? – Joe E., Atlanta

DEAR JOE: Yes, as long as the toys are specifically made for dogs. Chewing is an instinctive activity for dogs that keeps their teeth and jaws healthy and strong. For puppies, chewing not only helps them develop properly, but it also eases the discomfort of teething.

A dog will chew on anything that looks chewable – as many a dog owner has ruefully discovered after finding a favorite pair of shoes in shreds. So keeping many safe chew toys within the dog's reach, and featuring chew toys and tug ropes (thick, braided short ropes you can hang onto while the dog pulls at the other end) during play and training will help ease that urge to chew on everything.

Safe chew toys do not shred or shatter when a dog sinks his teeth into them – something you don't want to happen, as shards can cut a dog's gums, and swallowing debris can cause serious health problems. So owners should buy only approved toys that are appropriate for their dog's age and size. A Great Dane shouldn't be chewing on a toy sized for a Chihuahua, and likewise, a toy poodle might have trouble gnawing on a toy sized for a Doberman.

Remember also that owners (and those who will have dogs coming over to visit) should put away any objects they don't want chewed. Shoes, children's toys, plants, newspapers – you name it – should be placed in a room or closet that can't be accessed by the dog. A floor clear of everything but a few strategically placed chew toys is ideal.

ELLWOOD
Crankshaft Group

YOUR SKILLS. YOUR FUTURE. BUILT ON HARD WORK. BUILT TO LAST.

Since 1910, Ellwood has built a proud tradition of American manufacturing, skilled craftsmanship and doing the job right.

At Ellwood Crankshaft Group, we make large, heavy-duty crankshafts that help power equipment used around the world. Our work can be found in locomotives, ships, pumps, compressors, power generation equipment and military vehicles.

From forging and heat treating to precision machining and finishing, our team members use their skills to create products built to perform for years to come.

Today, we're looking for dependable, hardworking people who take pride in a job well done and want the opportunity to learn valuable skills, earn a good living and build a long-term career.

No manufacturing experience? That's OK. For many positions, we provide the training you need to learn the job and succeed.

Outdoor Opportunities

By COL (Ret.) Grey D. Berrier II

Sometimes A Branch Can Really Stick It to You Out in the Woods

You don't have to be a hunter or biologist to know we are in the midst of the rut. What is the rut you might ask? It is the annual breeding season of the white-tailed deer, which typically begins in October, crests in November, and continues on into December. Unfortunately, the tell-tale sign is the significant increase in road-killed deer on our streets, roads, and highways as amorous bucks chase does or bucks wander in search of their next mate. There is a very good chance you may have witnessed some of this behavior recently out in a field, along the highway, in a park, out in the woods, or even in your own yard.

When it comes to deer hunting, I am a stickler for not overhunting a particular stand and for only hunting certain stands based on the prevailing wind direction. However, I make some exceptions to my own rules, when it comes to the rut. Not overhunting a stand avoids educating the resident deer population. However, extensive telemetry research with radio-collared white-tailed bucks in numerous states has documented amorous bucks will frequently go on excursions from 22-hours up to 2.5-days where they will wander from one up to 8-miles outside their normal home range in search of receptive does. During the rut, I want to take advantage of these bucks' wandering behavior by being in the woods as much as possible. Two prime stand sites are either close to excellent bedding habitat where you know numerous does spend most of their time (if they are there, bucks will come find them) or in what is called a "rut funnel," which is terrain that restricts roaming bucks to a defined corridor you can easily watch.

I know a spot where bucks have consistently made a large scrape for the past 25+ years. If you are not familiar with a scrape, it is the "community message board" where a buck (or frequently multiple bucks) paws the ground to a patch of bare dirt to leave scent messages for other deer. These scent messages can be in the form of urine on the ground (they'll urinate down over the tarsal glands on their hind legs) or mark an overhead "licking branch" with scents from their preorbital glands (corner of their eyes), forehead glands (between their antlers), and their mouths (they'll mouth/chew the branch). Scrapes become meeting places for receptive does and seeking bucks, and I've found deer of both sexes lying in wait within 50-yards. If you intend on watching an active scrape, stealth is key when approaching and climbing into your stand. Many times I've gone into a stand in total darkness and bumped nearby deer.

I had two meaningful speaking opportunities leading up to Veterans Day, but I hunted as my schedule permitted. Thurs., Nov. 5, I hunted for several hours in the morning. The highlights included being so fixated on watching three deer in the predawn darkness as I walked to my stand that I almost collided with a skunk. Fortunately, "Stinky' scurried out of the way without spraying when I get within 15-feet of him. That morning, I saw two small bucks, a 4-point and a spike, and a large doe who came through with a purpose at 30-yards. I thought for certain she was being pursued by a buck, but one never showed. Fri., Nov. 6 permitted an afternoon hunt and the same 4-point was watching the scrape when I climbed up into my stand. Three doe made appearances well outside bow range, but their presence gave me confidence a bigger buck would eventually show. Sunset was 5:11 PM, so legal hunting hours ended at 5:41 PM (one half-hour after sunset). With some cloud cover, visibility was decreasing as a respectable buck made an appearance at 5:30 PM in an opening some 35-yards out. I saw at least 3-Up on his broad ivory rack and as is my habit, I never looked at his rack again, once I decided he was a "shooter." He stopped behind an oak and I could only see his tail and his nose as he was scent-checking the wind. I heard movement to my rear and I glanced around to see a mature doe 25-yards behind me. We played the waiting game as I hoped the buck would head directly to the doe. When he started to move away in order to get downwind of her, he momentarily stopped 40-yards away. I thought I had an opening about the size of a basketball to thread my crossbow bolt through. When I took the shot, my bolt deflected off a branch roughly halfway to my target and went awry of its intended trajectory. The respectable buck, which I had not seen before or caught on trail camera, must have been out on an excursion seeking receptive does. He ran off at the noticeable noise of my crossbow firing. Hopefully, he or another buck like him, will make another appearance before our PA early archery season ends on Nov. 20. Research by PGC biologists has identified the peak of the rut for PA deer is Nov 13. If you are a hunter reading this, I hope you have plans to head afield, are in your stand, or you've filled your tag!

God Bless, Be Safe, and Great Outdoors!

Serving God for Good

Whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant. Matthew 20:26
READ Matthew 20:20-28

Brad moved to a new city and quickly found a church where he could worship. He went to services for a few weeks, and then one Sunday he talked to the pastor afterward about his desire to serve in any way needed. He said, "I just want to 'reach for the broom.' " He started by helping set up chairs for the services and cleaning the restrooms. The church family found out later that Brad's giftedness was in teaching, but he was willing to do anything.

Jesus taught two of His disciples, James and John, and their mother a lesson in servanthood. Their mother requested that her sons have a place of honor on each side of Christ when He came into His kingdom (Matthew 20:20-21). The other disciples heard about this and grew angry with them. Perhaps they wanted those positions for themselves? Jesus told them that exercising authority over others wasn't the way to live (vv. 25-26), but instead serving was most important. "Whoever wants to become great among you must be your servant" (v. 26).

Brad's words "reach for the broom" are a practical picture for what each of us can do in our communities and churches to serve Christ. Brad described his life's passion for God in this way: "I want to serve for the glory of God, for the good of the world, and for my own joy." How will you and I "reach for the broom" as God leads us? By Anne Cetas

REFLECT and PRAY

In what ways can you serve your church family? When will you start?

Dear God, You've done so much for me and deserve my love. Please empower me and show me how to serve others in my midst.

Now Here's A Tip

by JoAnn Derson

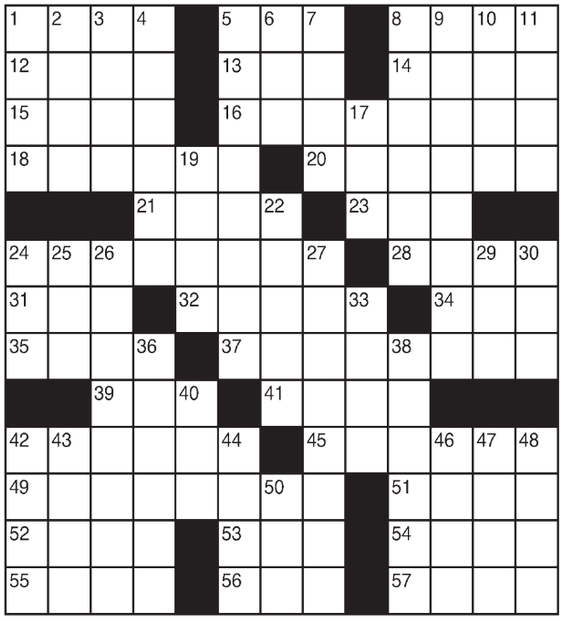

• How can you keep snow and ice off your windshield? Some say a solution of three parts vinegar to one part water sprayed on the windshield each night can cut your ice-scraping time in half or better. Use caution to avoid your paint job. Try covering your wipers with an old pair of long socks so they don't freeze to the glass! ©2026 King Features
